SHEEP WEEK

24TH MARCH- 28TH MARCH

Dear Parents/Carers and Pupils,

We are so excited to welcome our sheep to school next week! This will be a wonderful experience for the children, giving them the chance to learn about caring for animals up close. We encourage families to visit the sheep before and after school, but please remember to be respectful—use quiet voices, avoid sudden movements, and do not feed them unless advised. Our priority is to make sure the sheep feel safe and comfortable in their new environment. Thank you for your support in making this a special and positive experience for everyone!

Making Our Sheep Feel Safe and Welcome (Before & After School)

🐑 Calm and Quiet Mornings – As you arrive at school, remember that the sheep are waking up too! Walk calmly past their area and use quiet voices so they feel safe.

🌙 Peaceful Evenings – At the end of the school day, the sheep need time to rest. Avoid crowding their space or making loud noises so they can settle for the night.

🚶 No Running Near the Sheep – Sudden movements can scare them. Always walk slowly and respectfully.

🚫 No Feeding Without Permission – The sheep have a special diet. Please don't give them any food unless a teacher says it's okay.

Caring for and Respecting Our Sheep When Interacting

🖐️ Gentle Hands – If you are allowed to touch the sheep, always be gentle.

👀 Watch Their Body Language – If a sheep moves away, it means they need space. Respect their comfort zone.

🗣️ Soft Voices – Loud sounds can make the sheep nervous. Speak quietly and kindly around them.

🌿 Follow the Rules for Feeding – Only give them food if a teacher says it's okay. Some foods can make them unwell.

🛑 Wash Hands After Touching – This keeps both you and the sheep healthy!

By following these simple guidelines, we can make sure our sheep feel safe, happy, and loved while they are with us.

At The National College, our WakeUpWednesday guides empower and equip parents, carers and educators with the confidence and practical skills to be able to have informed and age-appropriate conversations with children about online safety, mental health and wellbeing, and climate change. Formerly delivered by National Online Safety, these guides now address wider topics and themes. For further guides, hints and tips, please visit nationalcollege.com.

What Parents & Educators Need to Know about STREAMERS

WHAT ARE THE RISKS?

Livestreaming has become a big part of the entertainment people consume, and what began as a series of gamers sharing their screens has grown into a huge industry packed with personalities – and potential risks for your children. With over 2.5 million people watching Twitch, the most popular streaming service, at any one time, it's important to remain aware of the risks associated with streamers.

INAPPROPRIATE CONTENT

Some gaming streamers will stick to family-friendly titles, but others will play more violent games that tend to be more popular. Non-gaming streamers could, in theory, discuss just about anything, and some streamers will often stream in revealing outfits.

NEGATIVE INFLUENCES

While things have improved, streamers are often paid by companies to promote products, and this isn't always stated explicitly. While it's unlikely these goods will be harmful to your child, some streamers and influencers have engaged (knowingly or not) in scams in the past.

FINANCIAL HARM

Streamers will often have donation buttons on their screens for users to submit money. What can start as small amounts can quickly spiral as streamers engage with paying viewers more often, potentially leading to financial issues.

UNREALISTIC EXPECTATIONS

Influencers often showcase how glamourous their lives are, making some users feel as though they are lesser. However, it's important to stress that, in many ways, this is an act, or at the very least, not common. Logan Paul, who has been successful as a streamer and influencer, has a Pokemon card worth $5 million, but this is atypical of anyone working in the medium.

MISINFORMATION

Streamers are, in many ways, just like us – and they can get things wrong or reel off an opinion without having thought about it. Some can simply say awful things to get a rise out of viewers or to sway them to their side of a hot topic.

ADDICTION AND SCREEN TIME

If your child is watching a lot of a particular streamer, it can be just as damaging to their social life as playing too many video games.

Advice for Parents & Educators

EXPLAIN HOW STREAMING WORKS

For a younger viewer, being a streamer or influencer seems aspirational, but it involves a lot of work and no small degree of good fortune. Streamers are often managed and unable to speak freely due to sponsors, and influencers are just that – influencing young minds, for better or for worse.

CHECK OUT STREAMING PLATFORMS

While Twitch was the de facto streaming service for years, YouTube has gained popularity, too. Then there are Kick and Rumble, which have grown in popularity with moves for big-name streamers – despite many being dogged by controversy.

DO NOT LOG PAYMENT INFORMATION

Streamers can reward donations with additional content, on-camera "shout outs" and more. If you're unsure about who or what your child is watching, consider avoiding linking payment information. This is especially notable with Twitch, which is owned by Amazon and therefore has some crossover.

SET SCREEN TIME LIMITS

You can set screentime limits for mobile apps on iOS and Google, but with other platforms like a PC it may be more difficult to keep tabs. Consider checking in regularly to ensure your children aren't watching content they shouldn't be.
